

Every Detail Given Full Consideration

4  2  1

If there are lessons to be learned in every renovation and every build then it certainly shows in the attention to detail that has been given to every aspect of this brand new architect and interior designed 4 bedroom family home. From the handmade porcelain pendant lights in the bedrooms and bathrooms or the complementary tones of the colour scheme to the drying cupboard in the laundry or the secure storage available in the carport roof space, no element has been left to chance, nothing is an afterthought. This is a home where everything has been considered and fits harmoniously within the overall design.

A soaring cathedral style ceiling only expands the already spacious dimensions of the main living and dining area where seasonal cycles of family life and entertaining are complemented by the ambience created by a Jetmaster gas fire and the ability to open the room onto a vast alfresco
